The Old Bachelor's Dream.

I dreamed a dream in the midst of my slumber, and as fast as I dreamed my thoughts came into number. It seemed to me that a law had been made that a tax on all the old bachelors' pates should be laid. In order to make them all willing to marry this tax was as large as a man could well carry. They grumbled, they growled, they said it was no use, and it was horrid injustice and horrid abuse. And in order to keep their hearts' blood from spilling they swore they never would pay a shilling. The rulers determined a course to pursue and put all the old bachelors up at vendue.
The crier was sent through the town, bell to ring, a trumpet to sound and call all who were met on his way, ha! 40 old bachelors sold here to-day. Presently all the old maids in the town, each in her best bonnet and her best gown from 50 to 60, some fair, plain, red and pale, of every description, all flocked to the sale. The crier began his labor and inquired: Who wants to buy, and in a twink of time every old maid responded: "I, I." And they were all sold off at a thrice extravagant price. Forty old maids, some younger some older, each lugged an old bachelor home on her shoulder.

Kicked by a mule:

The Press-Spectator says: Francis, the little 3-year-old son of John Taylor of Salisbury was kicked by a mule Monday at the home of his grand-father, Geo. Sharp of Kaseyville, and is still suffering from the results which are dangerous. The child was found unconscious in the barn almost under the mule's feet, and the doctor discovered that he had been struck two places on the head, one behind the ear, the other higher up. The father went up Tuesday, and phoned for Dr. Welch, Wednesday. He reports the condition of the child uncertain, but he has hopes of its recovery.

LATER:—A phone from Mr.
Taylor at noon Thursday gives a favorable report of his son's condition.

According to the Brunswicker, Messrs. L. Kinkhorst & Sons of Brunswick are preparing to add a new and valuable department to their wholesale soda pop business. They have received about all their machinery for the purpose of opening up a wholesale and retail ice cream factory. They received last week a mammoth freezer and a large number of packers, an ice machine and other apparatus necessary for the successful manufacture of ice cream. The ice cream factory will be located in the same building with the soda pop factory, and will be so arranged that the same power can be used for the operation of the soda pop and ice cream machinery.

The Mendon Constitution says: Last Friday C. C. Littrell, wife and little son were returning from Keytesville where they had been on business. When only a short distance out of town they met an automobile, and as his team became frightened Mr. Littrell requested the chauffeur to stop his machine, which was done, except that he did not stop the engine. There was a high grade at this point and Mr. Littrell had almost passed the automobile when his team shied, breaking a singletree, which allowed the buggy to turn over.
The team broke loose from the buggy and ran, but were caught

Easy Confinement

If you have cause to fear the pains of childbirth, remember that they are due to weakness, or disease, of the womanly organs, and that healthy women do not suffer, like weak ones.

The specific, medicinal, vegetable ingredients, of which that manly tonic

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

Is composed, will build up the womanly organs to a healthy state and thus prevent needless suffering.

"Before my confinement," writes Mrs. Rose Schubart, of Monument, Colo., "I had such bearing-down pains I didn't know what to do. Cardui quickly relieved me.
Some months later I had a fine 12-lb. baby, was sick only thirty minutes, and did not even have a doctor."

by a man a short distance away.
Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Littrell had disengaged themselves from the overturned buggy. It is indeed fortunate that they escaped serious injury, and the only damage done was the broken single-tree.

J. O. Smith of Moberly has invented and taken out letters patent on a tape line holder which he thinks will make a great hit. The invention is an improved tape line box. Where it has the advantage over the present holder is that if the box gets broken or damaged or the tape line snarled or comes out of its fastenings, the box can be opened up and the necessary repairs made. So thoroughly enthused is he over his invention and so much faith has he in its future that he has invested $1,000 in machinery and will shortly begin to manufacture the new lines in Moberly.

Put a Bull Behind the Bars

We call especial attention to the hinge joint at each intersection of stay with main bars.
This is the essential of every good wire fence. Unless the stay has a hinge joint the fence cannot receive pressure from contact and right itself. All rigid stay fences have been unsatisfactory and disappointing, as they crush down and when once down, remain so.

AMERICAN FENCE

Is made with a hinge joint, by which the maximum of elasticity is secured and the fence if properly stretched, remains in place indefinitely. With the hinge joint, no amount of strain on the bars can effect the connection of stay and bar, while the opposite is true of all rigid stay fences.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary as it now stands, has been thoroughly reedited in every detail, has been corrected in every particular and is fully adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
